

MAKING THE SCENE

JUST LIKE ANY OSCAR WORTHY MOVIE, its story needs a rich plot, talented contributors, a few premier stars, and a feeling of awe when the credits start rolling. It is this same creative process that the Rath brothers, Michael & John, systemized for their eight year young company, Trilogly Partners.

Taking cues from their film industry background as production managers and producers, this Summit County building firm bridges the same ideals used in the entertainment field over to a design-build concept team within the home industry. Each of their homes tells a story, from beginning to end, bringing together budget-conscious costs and all production aspects—the architects, engineers, contractors, and interior designers. Throughout the entire process, Michael & John oversee the specific vision of each client and direct the full picture, scene by scene, detail by detail. It is a process that is truly about the client.

This attention to quality has won Trilogly Partners numerous awards, including several mentions from the 2005 Summit County Parade of Homes: Award for Best Use of Technology, Award for Best Use of Green Building Techniques, and Award for Best Exterior Design and Elevations.

Mountain House & Home would like to give a standing ovation to the award-winning performance of Trilogly Partners for their mountain modern innovations & outstanding building achievements within Summit County.
